GERMAN POOL

Home-appliance brand German Pool introduces the Professional High-Speed Food Processor. The 30,000 rpm high-speed processor with high-carbon steel and heat-resistant blades ensures thorough blending of food for ultimate smoothness.

With multiple safety devices and a blender jar made of BPA-free Tritan material, it's engineered to eliminate anxieties while allowing you to get the maximum amount of fibre from fruit and vegetables. The food processor even has a Phyto-Rich programme that helps liberate health-boosting phytonutrients from fresh produce. Get juicing.

SAFE EGG

With its patented pasteurisation technology, aptly named Safegg is a worry-free way to get an egg fix. For those who like their yolks runny, or eggs raw, pasteurised Safeggs eliminate any risk of salmonella or avian influenza. Safegg has joined forces with four restaurants in the DiVino Group – DiVino, Goccia, Spasso and Carpaccio – which will all be using pasteurised eggs and pasteurised DHA enriched eggs in their egg-based dishes.

STARBUCKS

Beat the heat with two new Frappuccino flavours at Starbucks. Toast the classic combination of green tea and red bean, and an East-meets-West combo with Starbucks' new Japanese hojicha and English Earl Grey jelly concoction. Fans can choose to embark on a Frappuccino journey. Until July 30, any purchase of a tall or larger Frappuccino blended beverage will earn you a beverage stamp: collect three stamps or more and receive special rewards at your next purchase. With six stamps you can buy the limited-edition Frappuccino Passport Holder for $20 (originally priced at $160). If you're feeling peckish, try the new petites cup with tasty scones and almond fingers, or go healthy with the muesli with lemon aloe jelly yoghurt option.
